

It is vital to the welfare of America that at least the present very minimal rules on ownership of broadcast media be continued. It would be very much better to consider strengthening these rules, rather than allowing "special interests" to monopolize the airwaves.